

GENDER EQUALITY PLAN OF THE FORSCHUNGSVERBUND BERLIN E.V.

- adopted by the FVB Executive Board on February 17, 2022, amended 04.06.2025 -

Preamble

The Forschungsverbund Berlin e.V. (FVB) regards the realization of equality and the improvement of the compatibility of family and work as a priority management task.

The present Gender Equality Plan (GEP) is based on the Joint Science Conference's (GWK) "Implementing Agreement to the GWK Agreement on Gender Equality in Joint Research Funding" (AV-Glei) of October 27, 2008 amended April 22, 2016.

In order to execute the AV-Glei and taking into account the DFG's "Research-Oriented Equity and Diversity Standards" of June 29, 2022, the FVB makes the following provision by way of voluntary commitment:

- The FVB establishes a Central Equal Opportunities Officer with at least 20 hours of weekly working time and allocates a budget.
- The FVB undertakes to report annually to the Board of Trustees on developments in the area of gender equality and the reconciliation of family and work. For this purpose, the Central Equal Opportunities Officer or a representative of the Equal Opportunities Officers of the institutes/joint administration is granted the right to speak at the Board of Trustees meeting.
- In addition, every two years the FVB submits a report to its funding bodies on the number of women and men among the employees, distinguished by wage groups, full-time and part-time employment, as well as family-related leave of absence and fixed-term contracts, and at the same time reports on the effect and feasibility of the regulations in place.

1 Obligation by all employees to promote equality

All employees, especially those with supervisory and management duties, are obliged to promote equality and the compatibility of family and work in their areas of responsibility.

2 Attracting applicants

- 2.1 Except in the context of special programs to eliminate underrepresentation of one gender, jobs are not advertised for women or men only, neither within the institution nor publicly. The entire text of the job advertisement shall be designed in such a way that it does not apply to persons of only one gender.
- 2.2 If there is underrepresentation - see AVGlei - in individual areas, a vacancy should be advertised in order to increase the number of applications from the underrepresented gender. The advertisement is to be made public if this goal cannot be achieved with an internal advertisement.

- 2.3 In case of underrepresentation of women, the job advertisement should include the following gender equality clause:

“The institute/joint administration is committed to increase the proportion of women in this field, thus applications from women are particularly welcome.”

“Applicants are treated equally regardless of gender. Qualified women are particularly encouraged to apply.”

- 2.4 The family friendliness of the institute/joint administration should be explicitly mentioned in the job advertisement. The job advertisement shall only be published after the participation of the respective Equal Opportunities Officers of the institutes or of the joint administration of the FVB.

3 Interviews

- 3.1 When filling vacancies in areas where one gender is underrepresented, at least as many women as men shall be invited to interviews or special selection procedures who have the qualifications and aptitudes specified in the job advertisement, provided there are sufficient applications from the underrepresented gender.
- 3.2 Selection committees will be composed of equal numbers of women and men. If this is not possible, the reasons must be filed in written form and the Equal Opportunities Officer must be informed.
- 3.3 All application documents received as well as the list of candidates to be invited to an interview must be communicated to the Equal Opportunities Officer of the respective institute or the joint administration early so that constructive suggestions can be made or reservations put forward. These are to be resolved with the institute management or the managing director in the joint administration before the candidates are invited. This procedure may be deviated from in individual cases with the consent of the Equal Opportunities Officer.
- 3.4 Early involvement means that the Equal Opportunities Officer takes part from the beginning of the decision-making process on the part of the institution and the respective decision or measure has not yet been taken or initiated and can therefore still be changed.

4 Selection decisions

- 4.1 In the allocation of apprentice positions, recruitment, employment and professional advancement, the person of the underrepresented gender shall be given preferential consideration if qualifications and suitability are equal, unless reasons inherent in the person of a competitor outweigh these or an election or the involvement of an election committee is prescribed for the appointment.

- 4.2 In the case of joint appointment procedures with a university, the participation of the Equal Opportunities Officer of the participating institute as a guest in the appointment committee should be suggested. If the Equal Opportunities Officer or her deputy of the participating institute are unable to attend, they can name the Central Equal Opportunities Officer as their representative. The Equal Opportunities Officer of the university and the one of the participating institute will coordinate their participation, provided that the Chairperson of the respective committee has agreed to the participation.
- 4.3 If the Equal Opportunities Officer of the respective institute was not involved in the selection process at her own request, the result of the selection process shall be communicated to her upon request.

5 Qualification and prohibition of discrimination

- 5.1 The assessment of qualifications shall be based exclusively on the requirements of the position to be filled, in particular by the training requirements and professional experience. Age, seniority as well as the date of the last upgrading or promotion are only taken into account if they are of significance for the suitability of the applicants or insofar as this is stipulated by law or collective bargaining agreements.
- 5.2 The comparative assessment does not take into account:
- 5.2.1 interruptions in employment, fewer active years of service or employment, reductions in working hours or delays in completing individual training courses due to family responsibilities;
 - 5.2.2 the income situation of the spouse, partner, or companion;
 - 5.2.3 time constraints due to the care of children or relatives in need of care and the intention to make use of the possibility of reducing working hours.

6 Advanced training

- 6.1 Appropriate measures shall be taken to support employees with family responsibilities in taking part in further training. Women and men are taken into account at least in proportion to their share in the respective target group of the training.
- 6.2 Arrangements to ensure the participation of part-time employees and employees with family obligations or the provision of childcare shall be made within the framework of the plan of measures in No. 7.
- 6.3 The Central and the respective Equal Opportunities Officers of the institutes and of the joint administration of the FVB and their deputies are supported in the performance of their tasks by further training in the specialist areas they are concerned with.
- 6.4 The Central Equal Opportunities Officer organizes awareness-raising and training actions on gender equality and unconscious gender biases for all employees of FVB.

7 Measures to promote gender equality in human resources development

- 7.1 The FVB considers the promotion of equal opportunities as an essential instrument of its human resources management. Its implementation is a special obligation of staff members with superior and management duties.
- 7.2 The situation of female employees in comparison to the situation of male employees is therefore described and evaluated annually as a part of the updating of personnel statistics.
- 7.3 In order to achieve equal opportunities in individual areas, concrete targets and measures are developed in the institutes and in the joint administration of the FVB with the early involvement of the respective Equal Opportunities Officers. The Central Equal Opportunities Officer can play a supporting role here.
- 7.4 The individual institutes develop and implement Gender Equality Plans that contain concrete target agreements, take account of the cascade model and are suitable for monitoring equality within the framework of the Pact for Research and Innovation.
- 7.5 The measures and reports on gender equality-promoting personnel development are published in the institutes and, comprehensively, in the FVB. The FVB Executive Board shall evaluate and update the measures together with the Central Equal Opportunities Officer of the FVB. The Central Equal Opportunities Officer or a representative of the Equal Opportunities Officers of the FVB and the personnel administration shall report to the FVB Executive Board annually on the extent to which the objectives have been achieved or on the reasons for failure. The reports and updates shall be published in the FVB. The FVB Executive Board reports to the Board of Trustees at least every two years.

8 Family-friendly working hours and general conditions

Employees are offered working hours and other framework conditions that make it easier to reconcile family and working life, provided that there are no significant operational concerns to the contrary. This applies in particular to positions with supervisory and management duties.

9 Prohibition of discrimination in part-time employment, teleworking and family-related leave of absence

- 9.1 The prohibition of discrimination against part-time employees according to the Act on Part-Time and Fixed-Term Contracts¹ also applies accordingly to employees in teleworking positions and to those on leave with family obligations; this does not imply regular equal treatment of periods of leave, part-time and full-time employment.
- 9.2 A delay in the professional career resulting from family-related leave must be taken into account appropriately in the event of upgrading. Part-time employment shall not have a negative effect on the assessment.
